

Tom Humphrey

Former Nashville Bureau Chief & Blogger
Knoxville News Sentinel

Humphrey has made a career of covering Tennessee politics and state government, retiring in 2014 after 30 years as Nashville correspondent for the Knoxville News Sentinel. Before that, he worked 14 years for United Press International, much of that period also involving political coverage in the Volunteer State. In semi-retirement, he currently maintains "Humphrey on the Hill," a blog devoted exclusively to Tennessee politics and state government, writes a weekly column for the News Sentinel and occasional freelance stories while serving as a contributing editor to The Tennessee Journal, a weekly newsletter on the state's politics.
