Administrative Officials

The Men who Perform the Tasks of Government in Each of the States

Within these pages are compiled the names and titles of the men who actually carry on the business of government.

Since titles vary from state to state, and since the work performed by officials having the same titles differs from state to state, we have compiled these tables by function rather than title. In some instances the wide divergence in officials performing the same function is of interest. These lists are as accurate and consistent as possible. This being the first attempt, so far as we know, to collect information of this character, some variation in interpretation of items in the questionnaire could not be avoided.

The state administrative agency responsible for each function is also given.

The Council of State Governments greatly appreciates the courteous cooperation of the Legislative Reference Librarians, Secretaries of State, and various other officials who have made these lists possible.

Fiscal Officers

The functions of Audit, Control and Claims have been purposely omitted from the lists. There is such divergence in the set up of these functions from state to state that to compile such lists would necessitate extensive research. It was decided that it is better to omit the lists rather than to give inaccurate information.

The list of officials bearing the title “State Auditor” is given on p. 155. The work performed by these officials varies widely.
