SECTION VIII

DIRECTORY OF THE STATES AND TERRITORIES

23. State and Territorial Pages
24. Rosters of State Officials
The following pages supply information respecting the several states and territories and indicate sources from which additional data may be obtained. They are intended to furnish concisely an over-all survey of the government of each state—its elective officials; the composition of its supreme court, and of its commissions on interstate cooperation; the number of its legislators, their terms and political affiliations; its administrative officials; its nickname, motto, song, bird, and flower; summary state statistics; a condensation of those services performed by its legislative reference bureau; the contents of its state manual; and the activities of its planning and development agency. In each case, the material has been double checked by officials within the state reported upon.

Financial statistics are given for all states. The figures were furnished by the states and by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, which coordinates data from states to compensate for variations in terminology and record procedures, thus rendering the figures more nearly comparable.

Figures for total state revenue and expenditure were obtained from “Summary of State Government Finances in 1944,” State Finances: 1944, Governments’ Division, Bureau of the Census, May 1945, pp. 3-4.

Because of wartime shifts in population during 1943 and 1944, the actual populations of the states in 1945 are difficult to ascertain. The following pages, therefore, use the total estimated population by states for 1944 released by the Bureau of the Census March 10, 1945; but for relative size of state populations, density per square mile, and for the populations of towns and cities, the figures of the 1940 census are used.

* By the Treaty of Paris, 1783, England gave up claim to the 13 original colonies, and to all land within an area extending along the present Canadian border to the Lake of the Woods, down the Mississippi River to its 31st paralleI, east to the Chatahoochee, down that river to the mouth of the Flint, east to the source of the St. Mary's, down that river to the ocean. Territory west of the Alleghenies was claimed by various states, but was eventually all ceded to the nation. Thus, the major part of Alabama was acquired by the Treaty of Paris, but the lower portion from Spain in 1813.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE
ALEX S. POW, DIRECTOR

Services: The Legislative Reference Service, created under authority of Act No. 152 of the 1945 Legislature, has four general activities—information concerning government in Alabama, governmental research, codification of the statute laws, and bill drafting. The agency principally serves legislators, although it also works on request for state department heads, local government officials, and other persons. All personnel of the agency had not been chosen on August 6, 1945; a staff of six was contemplated. The Legislative Reference Service is supervised by a Legislative Council of twelve persons, who are the President of the Senate, four Senators elected by members of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and six Representatives elected by the House.

STATE MANUAL
Alabama Official and Statistical Register
Issued by the Department of Archives and History
Published quadrennially
Total Pages: 891  Current Volume: 1943
Size in inches: 6 x 9

The Register contains a complete directory of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the state government, with biographical material concerning the chief officers. It also contains a complete directory of county, city, and federal officials, state institutions, newspapers, and libraries. Statistics on county population, municipal population, and election returns for the state are given. The 1943 Official and Statistical Register was printed and distributed in 1944.

ALABAMA STATE PLANNING BOARD
Director: W. O. Dobins, Jr.
Appropriation: $110,000 (including $35,000 conditional) for 1945-46

Activities: The purpose of the State Planning Board is to develop facts and plans which will point the way to the best possible development of Alabama—economically, socially, and physically. It attempts to assist communities, individuals, companies, and agencies in bringing about the realization of this development. In working toward this goal, the Planning Board attempts to promote only those plans directed toward the wise use of our natural resources—the soil, the minerals, the waters, and especially the people of Alabama.

State Legislative Bureau
Department of Library and Archives
MULFORD WINSOR, Director

Services: The Bureau conducts an inquiry service for legislators, administrative heads, and private citizens. Assistance in the preparation of bills is available, and bill drafting is done for members of the legislature and state officials. Material of interest to legislators and government officials is compiled. Much of the material purchased primarily for legislative work is allowed to circulate. The Arizona News Letter, issued by the State Legislative Bureau, is outstanding in its field.

STATE MANUAL

The State Legislative Bureau, a division of the Department of Library and Archives, is authorized by law to “compile and publish a legislative manual, year book or official register containing information concerning the Legislature, and the offices, departments, institutions and agencies of the state government,” but no funds have been provided for the purpose.

PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

Arizona does not have an organized planning agency (as of January, 1945). Postwar planning activities are carried on by the various state departments. For example, plans for large-scale reclamation development of the state have been made, and the Highway Department has completed plans for improvements and new construction projects that will amount to approximately $12,000,000.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE
State History Commission
DALLAS T. HERndon, Secretary

Services: The archives have readily accessible information on subjects of legislative interest. An attempt is made to furnish both legislators and officials with information concerning legislation in other states, and a file is kept of all bills introduced into the general assembly. Bill drafting is performed for members of the general assembly and for state departments by the attorney general upon request.

STATE MANUAL

The Arkansas Handbook
Issued by authority of the Arkansas History Commission
Total Pages: 129 Current Volume: 1941-42
Size in inches: 6 x 9

The 1941-42 edition of The Arkansas Handbook presents an adequate directory of the state government as well as considerable historical information concerning the state. It has a roster of state officials, and contains complete biographical information about members of the general assembly. A summary of dates historically significant to the state adds to the book’s interest. Arkansas first issued a yearbook in 1936.

Library Commission

ESBEE M. CULVER, Executive Secretary

Services: Library facilities are very limited, since the State Library is located in New Orleans, where it can serve as a law library for the supreme court, instead of in the capitol at Baton Rouge, but every assistance possible is furnished. The fact that the library has no legal documents except a few session laws makes the work very difficult. No legislative research work is done, but an attempt is made to locate reports and material from which legislators may find pertinent data. Bill drafting is referred to the attorney general's office.

LOUISIANA ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Director: CAVE A. NELSON
Legal Basis: Act 204, Laws 1944
Appropriation: $100,000 for 1945-46

Activities: The Committee operates within the State Department of Commerce and Industry with the objectives of "planning, coordinating, and directing efforts toward economic development, public and private, with particular emphasis on postwar development." It is considering the problems of the immediate postwar period in terms primarily of long-term economic development. Work of the committee is being carried on through subcommittees in the fields of business research, education, public welfare, etc., but all fitting in with the over-all pattern.

Independent Baltimore
HORACE E. FLACK, Director

Services: An inquiry service is maintained for all branches of government. A careful index has been kept of each bill introduced into the general assembly, and of each ordinance introduced into the city council since 1908. It makes a sessional digest of bills by subject matter, and keeps a comprehensive card index. It drafts a large percentage of all bills and ordinances, and is custodian of official records, documents, and archives of the City of Baltimore. The attorney general drafts purely administrative measures. The Director of the Department serves also as the Secretary and Director of Research of the Maryland Legislative Council.

MARYLAND COMMISSION ON POSTWAR RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT
Executive Director: I. ALVIN PASAREW
Status: Legislative Act: Chapter 981, Laws of 1943

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE
Legislative Council
ROGER V. SHUMATE
Director of Reference and Research
Services: In addition to its research for the legislature, the Council maintains a legislative reference library, a bill-drafting service, and publishes The Nebraska Blue Book. The reference library, under the supervision of a full-time librarian and reference clerk, keeps a file of all bills introduced, indexed by subject, as well as maintaining a library on legislative and other public questions.

STATE MANUAL
The Nebraska Blue Book
Issued by the Legislative Council
Published biennially
Total Pages: 400
Size in inches: 5½ x 8½
The Nebraska Blue Book contains a complete and compact directory of state, county, and municipal officials. There are adequate election statistics and numerous miscellaneous facts concerning the state, conveniently arranged. The book is illustrated and contains a table of contents and an adequate index.

NEBRASKA DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE
Executive Secretary: G. H. Rhoades
Legal Basis: Executive order, September, 1943
Appropriation: $4,404 for 1945-47
The 1945 Legislature provided for the establishment of an Industrial Development Commission to succeed the Nebraska Development Committee with somewhat expanded functions and an appropriation of $100,000. The Nebraska Development Committee was to operate on the unexpended balance of its previous appropriation until the new commission could be organized. However, the State Supreme Court has found the act creating the Industrial Development Commission to be unconstitutional so that the continuation of a planning and development agency in Nebraska is in doubt.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE

No Formal Service

In 1919 the duties of the Legislative Reference Bureau, which had been established in 1907 under the Public Library Commission, were transferred to the law librarian. Since the law librarian was also ex-officio supreme court reporter, the work was too great, the service quickly diminished, and finally terminated during a general state reorganization. The office of the Honorable Thomas Hall, Secretary of State, has been very courteous in supplying information to the Council of State Governments.

STATE MANUAL

It contains a complete directory of all state officials since territorial days, information as to duties of state and county public officials, historical data, and general information about the state. There is a complete index. A number of photographs of scenes, officials, and public buildings is included.

PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

The North Dakota Postwar Planning Board established in 1943 (Chap. 177, S. L. N. Dak.) was discontinued by the 1945 legislature. North Dakota has no general planning and development agency.

OHIO PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

The Ohio Postwar Program Commission completed its work with its final report to the General Assembly in January, 1945. No appropriation was made for this commission for the biennium, 1945-47. However, under the provisions of H.B. 477, Laws 1945, the General Assembly did set up a postwar reserve fund of $79,834,948, for additions and improvements to the various offices, departments, bureaus, and institutions of state government, subject in each instance to the approval of the Controlling Board. These funds may be used during the biennium, 1945-47.

No formal service

South Dakota has no regular legislative reference service. Lawrence K. Fox, Secretary of the State Historical Society, has been very courteous in furnishing information to the Council of State Governments.

STATE MANUAL

The South Dakota Legislative Manual
Issued by the Department of Finance
Published biennially

Total pages: 470 Current Volume: 1945
Size in inches: 6 x 9

The South Dakota Legislative Manual contains a complete directory of the executive and legislative departments of the state government. A large amount of biographical material is included together with a copy of the state constitution. Extensive election statistics are given, and state institutions are described at some length. There is an index. The Manual is distributed by the Secretary of State.

An unusual section of The Manual lists all appropriations for departments of the state government from the date of statehood (1889) to date. Of special interest is the brief "South Dakota Chronology," the derivation of names of counties, and the inclusion, in full of the 1944 state platforms of political parties.

PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

Activities: Postwar planning activities in South Dakota are being carried on through the appropriate state departments. The State Highway Commission has assembled a shelf of projects, and has as many of them ready as is financially practicable. The Board of Regents has prepared a shelf of building, repair, and improvement projects for state educational institutions, and the Board of Charities and Corrections has done the same for institutions under its charge. A private organization, the Greater South Dakota Association, has made surveys and studies on postwar employment and related problems.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE

No formal service

There is no official department of the state government which furnishes legislative reference service. A private agency, the Tennessee Legislative Service, established in 1923, functions during legislative sessions. Hayden B. Johnson, Executive Director of the State Planning Commission, has courteously furnished information to the Council of State Governments.

STATE MANUAL

Tennessee Blue Book

Issued by the Secretary of State
Issued in cooperation with the State Planning Commission
Published biennially

Total Pages: 300  Current Volume: 1942-43
Size in inches: 6 x 9

The Tennessee Blue Book contains a complete directory of executive, legislative, and judicial departments of the state government. Included also is historical and other miscellaneous information. It contains a directory of county officers and adequate election statistics. The manual also contains an organization chart of the government, several handsome, colored plates, and an index.

TENNESSEE STATE PLANNING COMMISSION

Executive Director: Hayden B. Johnson
Legal Basis: Legislative Act, Chap. 43, Public Acts 1935
Appropriation: $75,000 less 15% impounded reserve for 1944-45

Activities: The Tennessee State Planning Commission, which has been active since 1935, is the state agency concerned with postwar planning and development. The emphasis so far has been on helping communities to adjust themselves to problems brought about by war conditions, and on the development of war industries upon the reorganization of the state's industrial structure in the postwar period. It will probably soon be extended to include postwar public works planning on the state and local level.

HISTORY

Discovered by Vitus Bering, a Russian explorer, in 1778, Alaska was purchased from Russia by the United States after William H. Seward, Secretary of State, had persuaded Congress that its acquisition was part of the "manifest destiny of the United States". The territory remained unorganized until 1884 when Congress passed the Organic Act which created the District of Alaska. Development of the territory began in 1898 when the Gold Rush brought a great influx of Americans. Under the Organic Act of 1912, which also serves as its constitution, the District was abolished and the present territorial government was established.

The territory maintains a public school system for the white inhabitants, and the Alaskan division of United States Office of Education provides educational facilities for the native population.

After the Japanese attack in 1942, the expansion of military establishments was hastened with emphasis on air bases. The navy set up a seventeenth naval district in the territory with headquarters on the Aleutians. The completion of the 1,500 mile Alcan highway in 1943 established land communication between the states and Alaska and promised closer relations in the postwar era.

In addition, the Board also functions as a general information bureau.

HISTORY

When discovered by Captain James Cook in 1778, the individual islands were ruled by their own kings; but by 1795, Kamahameha, the "Napoleon of the Pacific" had established himself as ruler of all Hawaii. European and American traders and missionaries settled in the islands and in 1893 ended the monarchy with the deposition of Queen Liliukalani. Later in the same year a provisional government was set up, pending application for annexation to the United States. Since the request for annexation was not accepted, the Republic of Hawaii was established in 1894. The annexation of Hawaii to the United States was finally accomplished by a Joint Resolution of the Congress, July 7, 1898; the transfer of sovereignty took place on August 12, 1898; and the Territorial Government of Hawaii was organized under the Organic Act passed by Congress, April 30, 1900.

LEGISLATURE

One Municipal Council of seven members enacts all legislation for the islands of St. Thomas and St. John, known as the Municipality of St. Thomas and St. John. Another Municipal Council of twelve members enacts all legislation for the island of St. Croix known as the Municipality of St. Croix. These two Councils, sitting in Legislative Assembly once each year upon call of the Governor, or for special sessions upon call either of the Governor or of the Municipal Councils, enact legislation applicable to the Virgin Islands as a whole. The Governor has the veto power but the legislative authorities may pass bills by two-thirds majority over his veto whereupon such bills, if not then approved by the Governor, go to the President of the United States.
